

Have You Been De-Stressed Yet?

FLO™ De-Stressing Technology Now Available in South Florida!

- Based on the application of fundamental discoveries by Russian scientists resulting from decades of research. This new branch of science has been perfected by American scientists for practical application and use.
- Fort Lauderdale is home to one of only 9 De-Stressing units in the United States.
- Creates a powerful, harmonious environment that facilitates a person to rapidly enter a profoundly relaxed state.
- In this state, the individual connects with their highest level of consciousness, and begins to restore harmony at lower levels of awareness by releasing stress that has accumulated at those levels.
- Just as the accumulation of stress appears to compromise one's innate self-healing ability, de-stressing appears to restore that capacity.
- Being in the FLO™ environment facilitates a process of remembering one's fundamental state as possessing a natural state of harmony.
